

ARE YOU FEELING THE CABIN PRESSURE?

All Cabin Crew in Europe are invited to participate in an online confidential survey on Cabin Crew work conditions and health

CLICK TO TAKE SURVEY

Karolinska Institute, a medical university in Sweden, want to map the work conditions, health and safety work of European Cabin Crew. They write as follows:

Feeling the Cabin Pressure?

A survey on cabin crew's working conditions, health and safety

New business models and most recently – the COVID-19 pandemic – have shaken the airline industry, profoundly reshaping crews' working environment.

Karolinska Institute, a renowned research-led medical university, therefore decided to study the impact of those changes on cabin crew health, fatigue and ultimately – flight safety.

If you are cabin crew flying for a European airline, you are encouraged to participate in this confidential European-wide survey.

 Karolinska Institutet www.project-sfs.com

Cabin crew flying for a European airline are greatly encouraged to participate in the confidential survey named Feeling the Cabin Pressure?. Click to take survey or learn more.

This is an opportunity to contribute to research that aims at concretely improving our work conditions and health!

Answer the survey and pass it on - Please feel free to share the link to the survey with colleagues, in Facebook groups etc. The more answers Karolinska Institute gets, the more impact their research will have.

We hope that you will take this opportunity to share your experience of your work conditions, health, and safety work!

Stay safe.